Sydnie L. Mosley Dances: Body Business

How can dancers get paid a living wage for meaningful work?
How can we transform places of lack in our lives into places of abundance?

Body Business is an interactive performance and installation exploring, expanding and re-envisioning the economic practices of the dance world. Body Business moves audiences to consider an economy that values artists' creative labor and production, but also decentralizes money as the only resource of value. The work is presented in marketing partnership with Dance/NYC, an advocacy organization for New York City dance, and creative collaboration with Our Goods, a barter network for the creative community.

The premiere of Body Business will be presented by
The Performance Project at University Settlement

The Company

Sydnie L. Mosley Dances (SLMDances) is an all women, NYC-based contemporary dance company that develops work in community to organize for gender and racial justice through experiential dance performance. We are proud to be 2015 Artists-In-Residence of The Performance Project at University Settlement on the Lower East Side of Manhattan, a hub where community-based arts practice and resources for NYC dance converge.

The Marketplace

Upon arrival to the Body Business performance, audiences will enter a themed marketplace installation constructed to connect them with resources they need or desire for sustainability in their lives and/or artist careers. We seek to partner with arts service organizations (November 12), social service organizations (November 13) and small businesses (November 14) as vendors. We want to offer you a platform to advertise your services at the performances of Body Business to promote the audience members' holistic care and wellbeing.

Vendors will receive:

- A table to promote your goods and services.
- 2 tickets, free of charge to participate.
- Time to interact with the audience: 6-7:30pm before the performance; 9-10pm after the performance.
- Promotion of services in SLMDances' online marketing (web, email and social media).

In exchange, we ask:

- Confirm participation with high resolution image of organization logo and link to website by October 1.
- Promote Body Business performance and marketplace to your community and contacts.

We believe in the power of sharing and providing a growing network for our audiences. Please contact us - we are happy to set up a phone conversation to discuss the details.
